1 DR: Okay, today is [DATE]. I'm here with, how old are you?
2 PT: Okay.
3 DR: How old are you?
4 PT: [AGE].
5 DR: [AGE] female. Uh, she came in the hospital because of few days of history of exertional chest pain and this is the first time she was in the hospital. She came to emergency room with a normal EKG and normal enzymes. She underwent stress testing which was positive and she's waiting to have cardiac cath. Now could you repeat, what kind of pain you have?
6 PT: Today?
8 PT: Um-
9 DR: Is it normal?
10 PT: Uh, I don't know. I not too understand.
11 DR: What kind of pain do you have? Chest pain?
12 PT: Chest pain?
13 DR: [INAUDIBLE] here?
14 PT: Yeah.
15 DR: Yeah. Tell, how do you feel?
16 PT: Now?
17 DR: No, when you came in.
18 PT: Uh, life is not good.
19 DR: That's okay, just say what you said, yeah.
20 PT: Last Saturday, life is not, very not a good. Today [INAUDIBLE].
21 DR: So. Sunday you had chest pain?
22 PT: Yes.
23 DR: Where, where, you were at home?
24 PT: No, no, no, no. This, I am clean house, because I am housekeeper.
25 DR: Oh, you're cleaning house -
26 PT: House, yeah.
27 DR: And you had chest pains?
28 PT: Chest pain, yeah.
29 DR: Okay.
30 PT: Because 10:00 my [INAUDIBLE] is not good. I had my son call [INAUDIBLE] hospital.
31 DR: Okay, now, did you break out a cold sweat? Were you sweating? Did you sweat, sweat?
32 PT: Sweat, yes.
33 DR: You did? Okay.
34 PT: Yeah.
35 DR: Does your heart pound?
36 PT: Heart, yes.
37 DR: Pound? Okay, so you came to the hospital and they, they said you didn't have a heart attack.
38 PT: No.
39 DR: Yeah, so they put you on a stress test.
40 PT: Okay. [INAUDIBLE], yes, um-hum.
41 DR: Yeah, now I understand you have diabetes -
42 PT: Um-hum.
43 DR: And high blood pressure.
44 PT: Um-hum.
DR: You are taking medicines.
PT: Medicine, yes.
DR: And you also a little bit overweight.
PT: Yeah.
DR: Right. And, uh, you also had high cholesterol.
PT: Oh, yeah, my, yes, it's very high.
DR: And, uh, your parents were die young.
PT: Yes.
DR: But you don't know why, right? You don't know why?
PT: My mom, uh, died [INAUDIBLE] this is the [INAUDIBLE]
DR: Yeah. Maybe cancer or something.
PT: Yes.
DR: How about your father?
PT: My father just died for [AGE] year and this is problem -
DR: Was the heart?
PT: No, no, no, no, not heart. And -
DR: Where did he die? In, uh, what country?
PT: [DEIDENTIFIED].
DR: [DEIDENTIFIED]?
PT: [DEIDENTIFIED]. Not, not, not, not here, because I am citizen, because my English not -
DR: Yeah, yeah, that's okay.
PT: Not so good.
DR: Yeah.
PT: Yeah.
DR: And you smoke a, a, uh, cigarettes rarely, sometimes?
PT: Sometimes, not, not every day.
DR: Yeah, okay.
PT: Not every day.
DR: [INAUDIBLE].
PT: Yeah.
DR: Few more minutes and I need [INAUDIBLE]. But you don't have any surgery before?
PT: No.
DR: Okay, and, uh, but you are very active person?
PT: Um-hum.
DR: Okay. And you are taking medicine, uh, regularly -
PT: [INAUDIBLE].
DR: Including aspirin.
PT: Yes.
DR: Yeah. And you have migraine in the past?
PT: Yes.
DR: And you never had surgery?
PT: No.
DR: Yeah, so after you come to hospital they did a stress test and was positive.
PT: Yeah.
DR: So they are going to do an angiogram soon, okay.
PT: Okay.
DR: Do you know anything about angiogram?
PT: No.
DR: Well, what they do is they put a wire into the groin and go to heart and they inject to see what happened to your coronary, to see whether they are good or bad and to see whether you need a procedure -
PT: Uh-huh.
DR: They call a stent. Talking about stent, yeah.
PT: Stent, yeah.
DR: Or if, if we know, for rarely, sometimes they go for surgery.
PT: Uh-huh.
DR: Okay, hopefully, you don't, you don't need it, yeah.
PT: Yeah.
DR: Yeah, I hope you well.
PT: Thank you.
DR: Okay, yeah, I know it looks, like, very anxious.
PT: [LAUGHING].
DR: Right?
PT: Yeah. Thank you so much.
DR: But don't worry you should be fine. Okay?
PT: Okay, thank you.
DR: You should be fine. Okay, thank you, thank you.
PT: Thank you.
DR: That's the end of conversation.
PT: Okay.
